Welcome!

If you are interested in advertising your business in the directory, please contact us to find out about the very competitive advertising rates. You will always deal with us directly, like many of the businesses that advertise in this magazine, we are a small, independent business and fully appreciate how much your business means to you.

Hopefully, the weather will be kind to us over the next couple of months and we'll all be able to take a walk in our beautiful countryside and benefit from some summer sunshine.

Best wishes

Susan

Missing Dog

Archie

Archie is a Nova Scotia Duck Tolling Retriever, a smaller version of a golden retriever except ginger and a white flash on his chest. Archie went missing 10th March from Sirhowy Country Park, where he was swept down river. He has been seen several times since in Crosskeys and latterly 26th and 27th March in Cwmcarn by the park and the mountain.

Thank you for looking for him, your help is appreciated.

Hidden in Plain View

In a secluded corner of John Frost Square is a cultural gem which thousands pass every day, many without even realizing that it exists. It is of course Newport Museum and Art Gallery. Even those that know of it tend to assume that it is of very little significance, but in fact it houses a collection of national and international importance.

The Museum:

Founded in 1888, one of the oldest in Wales. Its collection brings the history of Newport and the surrounding area vividly to life:-

The pre Roman era featuring the tools and other remains of hunter gathers who roamed the shores of the Severn Estuary thousands of years ago, and the almost complete skeleton of an aurochs, an extinct breed of giant cattle.

The Roman Collection is one of the best in Wales featuring finds from both Caerleon and Caerwent, including the oldest Christian relic ever found in Wales.

The Medieval period includes artefacts from the Newport ship and finds from local castles, priories etc.

The Chartist Uprising - a fantastic array of items from and relating to the Rising, including John Frost's pistols.

The Art Gallery:

A truly diverse collection, highlights of which include paintings by Sir Stanley Spencer, Dame Laura Knight and L. S. Lowry together with works by important Welsh artists Kyffin Williams and Stanley Lewis. There are even some unattributed sketches that may be by Turner.

The decorative art collection includes a sculpture by Sir Jacob Epstein, studio ceramics by Lucy

Rice and Ewen Henderson and the Iris Fox collection of porcelain and Wemyss ware.

Activities:

Both the Museum and Gallery organize a regular programme of temporary exhibitions, and during school holidays drop-in family craft sessions take place. At any time family trails and activities can be collected from the information desk.

In the autumn and winter there are monthly lectures on historic and cultural topics, organised by the Friends of Newport Museum and Art Gallery (FONMAG). They take place at 7 pm in the Art Gallery on the 2nd Tuesday of the month from September to April inclusive. Admission is free for FONMAG members, £2.00 for non-members.

Gwerinwyr Gwent Diary

On Wednesday 6th March we had our first booking of 2019 (nothing on St David's day this year which is most unusual). This took place at Ysgol Gyfun Gwent Is Coed (Newport's first Welsh medium secondary school), and came about as a result of an email from L'Ecole d'Education International de Laval, near Montreal in Canada to the Welsh Folk Dance Society. A group of 62 students (16-17 years old) and five teachers was visiting the UK, including a two day visit to Wales, and they were keen to watch and take part in some Welsh dancing.

Under the auspices of Gwyl Plant Gwent (the children's dance festival involving schools established by GG members in 1981), the visit to Ysgol Gwent Is Coed was arranged. With the help of the head teacher and pupils of the school, a programme was put together by Barbara Griffiths to give the Canadians a 'flavour of Wales'. This started with pupils giving their visitors a tour of the school, followed by refreshments and a short power point presentation about the landscape and famous places of Wales. Then they were treated to a demonstration of clog dancing by Mr James (maths teacher), a pupil harp quartet and a Welsh language solo. GG gave a display of some traditional Welsh folk dances, and finally a mini twmpath with GG demonstrating the dances and the Canadian and Gwent Is Coed students joining in enthusiastically. We didn't have to encourage them onto the floor, the 14-17 year olds were up on their feet, eager to join in and determined to enjoy themselves and it certainly looked as though they did! They were returning to Canada on the following Saturday and we hope they left the UK with happy memories of their time in Wales.

Our next booking was Monday 25th March at Lodge Farm Church in Caerleon where, dare I say it, the age group was at the other end of the spectrum! This was a reprise of an evening put together by Barbara Griffiths telling the story of Gwerinwyr Gwent and Welsh folk dancing, made up of dance displays interspersed with the audience guessing what was inside a series of boxes by answering clues read out by GG dancers. At the end there was time for just one easy ceilidh dance for those who wanted to join in. March was a busy month, as on 31st March we paid our annual visit to Llanover for the NGS open garden day. It is always a lovely event and raises such a lot of money for charity. The weather was dry although very cold, but that didn't stop people flooding in. We were again joined by the Lloyd family, so had a super band of musicians (they were frozen), and a lot of people watched and enjoyed our performances. We had some very nice feedback. Gwerinwyr Gwent is always seeking new members, and beginners or experienced dancers/musicians are very welcome. Practice night is Thursday 8pm-10pm at the Graig Community Hall Bassaleg, opposite the Ruperra pub.

The Clive Mine

Any mention of the word 'mine' in this area will usually be taken as a coal mine, but this one was different. It was mined for lead. Lead mining was extensive in North and Mid Wales, but much less common here in the South East. However, the limestone outcrop near to Draethen was quite extensively mineralised, and lead has been mined for in this area since Roman times, and possibly even earlier.

Much of the working in this area was in shallow pits worked down from the surface, but in a few cases the ore was mined down to much lower levels, worked from both vertical shafts, or horizontal tunnels, or adits. One such was Roman mine, the name was given after exploration by cavers found an extensive system of workings underground. Some Roman pottery was found down there, which dated the workings. Lower Machen, not far away, is known as a Roman settlement, and when the present A468 road was straightened in this area in the 1930s the remains of this settlement showed evidence of refining of lead. The conditions for the miners do not bear thinking about. Mine ventilation was poor, light was from fires or candles, and the tools to break the rock were primitive. A way of shattering the rock was to set a fire up against the rock face, then when the rock was very hot it was quenched with water. This caused cracks to appear and these were used to lever the ore bearing rock out. After the Romans departed mining stopped until the 16th century, and it is likely that the many surface pits which abound in this area were worked in the next two centuries, although very little is known of what was happening in these years.

The Clive mine seems to have come about in the 1830s by two people extracting ore on the quiet. It is difficult to believe this, so perhaps the story is Apocryphal. It told that after about 10 tons of ore had been extracted, one of the pair set off for Bristol with the ore to sell it to the smelters there. He made off with the proceeds, leaving his partner with the liabilities! It appears that no more was done until 1850, when working restarted, on a proper commercial footing. In 1852 it was reported that 250 tons of ore was ready at the surface, surely a great exaggeration, as less than 20 tons of ore was declared in the following two years. Problems were being encountered with ventilation and flooding, and the venture petered out in 1854.

A new start was made in 1871 by the Glamorganshire Mining Company, with a capital of £12,000. The new company reported that prospects were excellent, and that they had erected a steam engine and pumping machinery. Dressing floors for washing and concentrating the ore were set up along the Draethen Brook. This immediately brought a protest from the Tredegar Estate, as the brook was used as the domestic water supply for Draethen Village. No further work was done, and Clive mine was slowly reclaimed by nature. If you go wandering in the woods of Llwyn Hir and Coed Cefn-Pwll-Ddu, the entrance to Clive Mine can be found by the forest track at ST208870, and other traces can be found in the woods all over this area. It is a lovely quiet and secluded woodland, ideal for a stroll, with the added attraction of refreshments at the Maen Llwyd, or Hollybush nearby. A word of warning. Old mines are dangerous. Shafts and other openings are securely fenced, but care needs to be taken particularly with children and animals. Do not attempt to venture into these workings unless you are an experienced and properly equipped caver.

LISA PRYCE-JONES

HYPNOTHERAPY & HEALING

What would you like to achieve this Summer?

Whether it's feeling calmer, overcoming your phobia (e.g. getting on that aeroplane, learning to drive), eating more healthily and achieving your optimum weight, drinking less alcohol, reducing pain or maximising your personal performance (e.g. presentations, speeches, sports performance etc.) Hypnotherapy and Healing by Lisa Pryce-Jones could help you.

Life is indeed challenging on occasions and for many the hardest step can be acknowledging that you need help to enable you to achieve your goals. If the methods which you have tried previously have not worked to date why not try something different – you might be both surprised and delighted with the results!

Lisa is an Award winning complementary therapist who uses a combination of therapies to help you achieve better balance within your both your mind and body. This may include Hypnotherapy and either Spiritual Healing or Reiki. Lisa also uses a mindfulness based behavioural therapy called Acceptance and Commitment Therapy (ACT) which helps to guide you on a conscious level using your personal values to create a better life.

Working on a sub-conscious level using Hypnotherapy is far more powerful than the conscious mind alone. Combined with the universal energies of Healing and ACT the client results achieved are often life changing and delighted clients have provided many testimonials to this effect which are shown on Lisa's website.

You will be assured of a warm welcome, have plenty of time to discuss your issues and have a therapy plan devised to meet your needs and help you to achieve your goals.

For further information please visit www.hypnotherapyandhealing.co.uk or call Lisa for a chat to discuss how Hypnotherapy and Healing could help you.

A Tribute to The Alcan Singers

An appreciation of 40 years of community service

In 1978 a group of three, Malcolm Pritchard, Mervin Jones and Ray Norris were having a little sing song of their own. As a result they thought 'Why don't we start our own choir'. Thus the seeds were sown and people were asked if they were interested. There was a tremendous response and the seeds 'ripened' with the formation of The Alcan Singers. Special thanks go to Malcolm Pritchard, Sheelagh Young (pianist), Derek Terry and Terry Browning (treasurer) who were key members of the group.

Having now got enough interest the Alcan Singers were formed. However at first things were not easy! The choir realised they badly needed a piano. A piano which was available was found and provided by the Alcan Club Committee but was located in the Tydu area of Rogerstone. In the absence of any transport the piano was pushed down the main road to the Alcan Club. There was a pause in front of the Alcan main Office block where some 'tinkling of the ivories' took place together with a few renditions for the office workers. Having the piano in place the Singers realised that they needed someone to play it! To the rescue came Ray Norris who was the first pianist for the Singers followed by Bill Davies in later years and then Sheelagh Young who had previously been conductor. Some of the members who acted as 'comperes' over the years were Peter Faulkner, Andre Claridge and Jimmy Williams.

The Alcan Singers in the early days

The singers at Wednesday night practice

It is impossible to name all of the many members who were members of the group over the forty years but some of the earlier members were Les Reed, Edward Lee, Brian Jones, John Maybury, Cecil Wilcox and many more, while some of the newer members were Des Andrews, Mike Powell, Robert Bassett and Keith Lee. Over a period of exactly 40 years the singers performed at well over 1000 events which included concerts, visits to old people's homes, weddings, hospitals and funerals.

The singers provided a fantastic voluntary service to Rogerstone and the surrounding communities. Sadly however, due to dwindling numbers, all too common these days in sports organisations and other bodies, the Singers had to stop functioning in 2018 after 40 years of voluntary service to the community. There were many others involved with the Singers who are not named but are equally appreciated. Finally, a special word for Malcolm Pritchard who is the only person who started from day one and was present to the end. Malcolm had many roles from one of the founders, singer and conductor when needed. Thank you Alcan Singers for 40 magnificent years of voluntary community service!

A New Slant on Territorial Disputes – Warring Cygnets

Even after almost 40 years of involvement with swans, we continue to be surprised by some of the things which happen. On 7th March it was reported from the Pond at Brynmawr (overlooked by Asda), that the 5 cygnets were under pressure from the adults. At this time of year, with the start of the new breeding season just round the corner this is normal; the adult male in particular is serving notice on the young birds that it is time to leave. Failure to do so is potentially fatal.

The following day, on arrival at Brynmawr, all was peaceful, except that, by this time, there were only four cygnets. Over the years we have had significant involvement at the nearby Machine Pond so we decided it was worth checking to see what if anything was going on there. Good job we did, as we were met with an extraordinary situation. Clearly, this is the territory of another swan family into which, it appears the missing 'Asda' cygnet had strayed, but there was only one adult present, assumed, based on our observations from some distance, to be a female. The intruder had been chased up onto the far bank by one, quickly followed by another of the resident cygnets. The intensity of the chase increased as all three birds re-entered the water, and were fast coming our way. Very soon, we lost sight of them as they beached on the near shore somewhere far below us at the bottom of a very steep bank. Clearly it was time to intervene. Equipped with just a swan hook and a swan wrap, the descent of the bank was a hazardous business, it being both steep and slippery in places, combined with the fear of a turned ankle or worse. Approaching the bottom, there was no obvious sign of swans, apart from the adult and two cygnets on the water, but the immediate view was restricted by a number of gorse bushes near the water's edge. And then, one's eye was caught by sizeable smudges of grey and white under one of those bushes. The feeling of something approaching panic was all too apparent as it was not at all clear it would be possible to intervene effectively, especially as the terrain was pretty challenging. Somehow we managed to move to the far side of the bush to discover one cygnet on top of the other and gripping its neck in its beak. They separated on my appearance, the assailant escaping onto the water, and the victim secured by the swan hook. Phew!!! What a relief! Despite the ferocity of what had happened, the cygnet we had caught seemed unhurt, and from long experience, we do know they are very resilient, with what seem like almost immediate powers of recovery. We have no doubt therefore we did the right thing in taking him for release at The Knap in Barry. Almost immediately, he was surrounded at close quarters by a bevy of mainly juveniles, but a couple of adults as well; all very friendly, so this combined with the witnessing of a cygnet on cygnet attack was a totally new experience for us. You can never tell what's going to happen next!

Bluebird Care

Providing Support When You Need It

We provide high quality care and support services throughout Newport & South Monmouthshire, enabling our customers to retain their independence whilst living in the comfort of their own homes.

Why choose Bluebird Care

It might be the first time that you have had to consider care for yourself or a member of your family; or perhaps you are looking for some extra support to complement the care you already receive. Whatever your situation, deciding on a suitable care company can be a stressful and difficult task, filled with uncertainty and pressure to make the right choice.

Unlike other companies, we do not take a 'one size fits all' approach to providing care. Instead, we are passionate about delivering a personalised service designed around the needs of each individual customer to support their lifestyle.

Our staff

We recruit and train all of our own staff to the highest standards to ensure we provide the quality of care that we would want for our own family and friends.

Connect with us on Facebook  Bluebird Care Newport & South Monmouthshire
Follow us on Twitter  @BluebirdNewport

Our Services

You might be looking for short-term help and support after a stay in hospital, or whilst recovering from an illness. Or perhaps you need care and support for the long term. It might be respite that you need whilst your usual carer takes a break, or maybe you need someone to take care of a family member whilst you're away. Whatever your needs, Bluebird Care can help.

From 30-minute visits aimed at helping with household tasks or preparing a meal; to caring for those living with dementia – Bluebird Care provides you with the support you need, when you need it most.

Some of the tasks that our Home Care Assistants frequently undertake include:

- Full personal care including showering and bathing
- Mobility assistance, including the use of hoists and other equipment
- Assisting with medication
- Assisting with managing the home, e.g. cooking, cleaning, laundry
- Help with shopping and meeting friends
- Providing support and assistance to customers attending GP/hospital/dental appointments

A realistic and affordable alternative to Residential Care

We also provide 24 hour Care

Our dedicated live-in carers provide personal assistance from waking until bedtime and are on hand if they are required during the night.

Should you need care and support around the clock, we will put together a small team to provide care on an hourly basis, day and night, for total peace of mind.

Call and speak to a member of our team to find out how Bluebird Care can help you and your family.

Local Place Names

In his introduction to his book on place names in Wales, Ifor Williams quotes the north Wales academic John Morris Jones as having said that “only the foolhardy try to explain place names!” That being so, Wales must be full of the foolhardy as the interpretation and translation of place names in Wales seems to be a national pastime. As a result, there sometimes seems to be as many variations on the meaning of some towns and villages in Wales as there are of inhabitants. This often leads to some quite heated debate as proponents of one interpretation argue their case against those suggesting a different derivation.

The situation in Wales has been complicated by several factors. Firstly, there are the various Welsh dialects. As with all languages, dialects vary from region to region where that language is spoken; this may be because a different word exists in different regions for describing the same thing or just a difference in pronunciation or spelling. In Wales we have the added complication of Anglicisation. In the 19th Century, large numbers of English speakers moved into Wales, especially south-east Wales, to work in the iron works and coal mines. They were unable to spell or pronounce Welsh words correctly and so we see a change in the spelling to English orthography. Other times, the incoming English speakers resulted in a significant growth in the population of an area and a completely new (English) name was given to an existing Welsh community, hence resulting in both a Welsh and English version of a place name.

The picture is further complicated by the mapping of Wales which took place during the 19th Century. This was largely undertaken by monoglot English speakers with the remit seeming to have been to record place names as best as possible using English orthography. This has resulted in some quite bizarre outcomes such as the 6th Century Welsh saint Illtud becoming a Twit (Llanilltud becoming Llantwit)! In 2018, at the behest of Oxford House Industrial History Society, Cymdeithas Enwau Lleoedd Cymru / Welsh Place Name Society (CELIC) undertook to provide an interpretation of some of the place names in the Risca area.

RISCA MUSEUM

In the past, there has been quite some head-scratching concerning the names of local areas. One such example is Ochrwyth, where some have tried to interpret the meaning by resorting to a dictionary and come up with the meaning of 'the eighth side' and wondering what happened to the other seven! This, of course, is a misspelling of the Welsh word 'chwith' (left) or 'chwyth' (blast of air) based on the South Wales dialect 'with' or 'wyth' (both pronounced 'weeth'). As with the Latin, the Welsh for 'left' can also mean something sinister or wrong which lends the first interpretation of 'Ochrwyth' as 'the wrong side' and the second as 'the windy side'. Having completed their work on a sample of place names local to the Risca area, CELIC commissioned a set of five interpretation boards which were displayed on the CELIC stand at the Eisteddfod in Cardiff in August 2018. During the week of the Eisteddfod, these boards attracted considerable attention from visitors to the CELIC stand along with some interesting conversations around these and other local place names. Following the success of this display at the National Eisteddfod, Risca Museum were presented with a set of boards which are now on display in the Museum. The research into the derivation of the place names was undertaken by a renowned expert in the field, Richard Morgan. So, has his research into local names been accepted by everyone and has the heat been taken out of the arguments? Of course not! And of course, we would not expect this to be so. However, what we have is what may be considered to be an expert view of the meanings of local place names which still remain open to (reasoned) debate. We also have a set of interpretation boards which local residents can refer to and can be used as the basis of future research. With our work with local schools, we also have something which can help local children understand something of their culture and heritage. Perhaps the final word should be left to John Morris Jones because after all, it is only the foolhardy who try to understand the meaning of place names in Wales!

Houses in Newport Are in Great Demand

Everyone wants to live here! Well, that's not strictly true but according to recent statistics issued by HM Land Registry, house prices in Newport rose last year by the second highest rate of annual growth percentage (10.5%) for all local authorities throughout the UK.

Average Property Prices in Newport Increased in 2018 to £175,447.

John Newell, owner of Kingston Newell Estate Agents is not surprised by the continued increase in demand for properties in the area. He said, "It was only last year that Newport was named as the UK's fastest moving property market and sales of houses throughout the region have remained very strong with many houses selling on the same day they are listed and going to sealed bids.

Whilst some have been sceptical about the impact of the abolition of the Severn Bridge tolls, we have sold a lot of houses to private buyers and investors who are keen to take advantage of the comparative cheaper house prices here."

Bassaleg and Rhiwderin are Two of the Most Popular Areas

Commenting on the local market, John said, "Looking at our own sales figures, we know that Langstone in the east of the city and Bassaleg and Rhiwderin in the west are in high demand with properties being snapped up very quickly not only by those looking to move to the area from Bristol but also from Cardiff where again the house prices here provide much better value for money.

No Sale – No Fee and Our Price Match Promise

We pride ourselves on our local knowledge of the property market and our ability to sell houses for our clients hence us being more than happy to offer you a No Sale – No Fee arrangement and a promise to price match other quotes you might have received to sell your house from our high street competitors.

A Simple Plea

By Paul Minton

In my regular articles for the Directories, I always endeavour to recount a story with a local flavour, preferably one laced with jokes and quirky asides. I will not do so on this occasion as I have a simple plea to make. But first, I want to tell you about one of my dearest friends.

I met Rick at university: we lived in the same halls of residence, me on the top floor and he on the ground. I can't even recall how I got to know him but Rick was at ease talking to everyone. As he got older, his waistline might have expanded and his hair might have abandoned its coppery flame of youth but his sense of fun and infectious enthusiasm remained undiminished. He was loved and respected by all, including my parents who, I am sure, would have liked to have adopted him!

After graduating, Rick moved around with work but he was regular visitor to our home in Newport, often dropping in on his way down to the West Country where his family lived or en route to Cardiff if he had meetings there. He drove a red Chrysler for many years, which he christened "Scarlet O'Cara" and he would frequently bring along some of his delicious homemade bara brith: another reason why I always looked forward to seeing him.

Rick worked for various environmental organisations and was also a volunteer for different charities, often making long drives across Europe to Romania in order to deliver donated supplies. Each Christmas Day would be spent, in part, at a homeless shelter that provided hot dinners for those in need. He was also a magistrate and on one occasion, I had the pleasure of watching him in action. Once the court was in session, this gentle giant, who would more likely than not, greet you with a big bear hug, became a formidable presence. Defendants and solicitors quivered as Rick unleashed withering reprimands but as soon as we were outside together, he reverted to his normal, placid demeanour, much like the Hulk shrinking back into Bruce Banner.

As if to counterbalance his enviable accomplishments, Rick lost his mum when he was still in his twenties and more recently, his father suffered a stroke and lived in a nursing home. Having no siblings, Rick sold his own property and moved back to the family house to be closer to his dad. When I saw him last, he mentioned finding it difficult dealing with his dad's condition but he quickly steered us into more light-hearted waters. It was a momentary glimpse beneath his happy-go-lucky exterior but the thing about Rick was that he was a very private person, never wanting to burden anyone with his own problems.

His dad died earlier this spring and tragically, Rick took his own life the same week. He was 48 years old. It is particularly tragic that Rick had given so much support to those with mental health issues but when he needed it most, we - his friends - were oblivious. So I have an appeal to make. No matter how bad things get, whether there is a personal tragedy, a relationship breakdown, financial worries, or concerns about exams, it is crucial to talk to someone before doing something that cannot be undone. Similarly, if you are aware of somebody who might be at risk, don't wait to be asked for help. It is better to offer and be rebuffed than to delay and discover it's too late to intervene. There was never a more beloved, cheerful, and outgoing character as Rick and if it can happen to him, then given the right circumstances, we are all at risk.

GRACE BAPTIST ASSEMBLY

gathers for public worship on Sunday afternoons at the Malpas Community Centre, Pillmawr Road, Newport, at 3pm and fourth Sunday mornings of the month at the Libanus Centre, Libanus Road, Blackwood, at 10.30am

What do we believe?

We seek to be Word-centred and gospel-driven.

The Word of God is crucial! The ministry of Grace Baptist Assembly will, we trust, always keep God's Word central. Why? The Holy Bible is God's written Word; it is how He has chosen to communicate to us who He is, what He has been doing, and what He expects of us. The Bible alone holds the ultimate, most trustworthy, most authoritative answers to the questions of life and eternity. Thus, rather than magnifying the ideas of mere human beings, we look instead to God, trusting that He inspired and preserved His Word for His glory and our good. We believe that the written Word is a reflection of the Living Word, Jesus Christ, and that its contents are our reliable, sufficient rule of faith and practice. When a moral question is raised, or when we face a difficult circumstance, we choose to resort to the Bible for guidance, correction or comfort, rather than falling back on our own experiences and opinions.

We seek to be traditional in our message.

We hold to historical Baptist distinctives. Specifically, we are fond of The First London Baptist Confession of Faith, 1646 edition. We gladly accept broken, unaccomplished, needy sinners like ourselves; but we are not seeker-driven. We do not believe that 'doing church' is what God requires of people, and we do not believe that it is this or any other local church's responsibility to water down, nor add to, the gospel of Jesus Christ in order to create a more 'comfortable' environment. Do we want that gospel [good news] to be understandable? Yes. Do we ourselves want to be compassionate and inclusive? Yes. We want broken people - people like us - who know their sinfulness. We are here for those who know that they need something more than what this life has to offer. We seek not to offer more of the same, but to offer something different. The person and work of Jesus Christ is enough for us. We invite you to come see why.

We seek to be relevant in our vision.

We maintain that the Bible is more than a collection of ancient writings, but rather, it contains everything we need to face the problems of life in today's culture. Consequently, our teaching and preaching will include practical application to help us live as we ought to live. We are not an elite group of those who have 'arrived' and we are committed to continual change. We rest on and submit to the absolute, unchanging truth of the Bible; and it in turn changes us. We hear and meditate on God's Word - and while we do that, we try to be doers of that Word, and not hearers only. We have found that the unchanging truths of the Bible affect our everyday lives, and we pray that we will become more and more like Jesus Christ as we submit to and obey His Word.

THE FINAL FATE OF H.M.S. NEWPORT

(Part 1)

Readers who have previously read my article in the Nares series, Bygones 9 (Part 4), may recollect that I ended that edition by discussing the final fate of HMS Newport, the first ship to transit the Suez Canal under the command of George Strong Nares. It occurred to me that I might enlarge on how this ship, now re-named and in Russian hands, was finally tragically lost in the arctic regions.

In 1912 an officer of the Imperial Russian Navy commanded an expedition to explore and search for a north-east passage leading from the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific. This would have been the equivalent of the British search for a north-west passage, but in the opposite direction.

The officer commanding the expedition was Georgy Lvovich Brusilov, who purchased the 43 year old former gunboat, which in British hands had been named HMS Newport. This vessel when discharged from the British Navy had passed through the hands of several owners and had been re-named Pandora II and then Blencathra. Brusilov chose to change the ship's name yet again to Svyataya Anna (Saint Anna in professional sailors and some St. Petersburg adventurers. He also chose an experienced Polar navigator, 32-year old Valerian Albanov, for his second in command. These two men had been previous classmates but came from totally different backgrounds. Unable to find a Doctor to serve, he English). The 145 foot long shallow draught ship was schooner, rigged with three masts, sails and equipped with an auxiliary two cylinder steam engine driving a screw propeller. Brusilov had previous Arctic experience having served on Russian icebreakers in the Chukchi Sea and East Siberian Sea.

Brusilov put together a crew of some two dozen members consisting of seal hunters, a few he persuaded a 22 year old female nurse, Yermima Zhdanko, to join the crew and provide medical assistance.

After time spent, refitting the ship and loading supplies, Brusilov departed from St. Petersburg in August 1912, just before the start of the Polar winter, not the best time of year to attempt the north-east passage. In early October the vessel was encountering ice floes in the Kara Sea and by the 28th became locked in the ice off the west coast of the Siberian Yamal Peninsula. Brusilov had anticipated this and the ship carried enough canned fish and meat supplies to last until 1915, if needed.

The Svyataya Anna remained locked in the ice through 1913 without the expected release and drifted north-north west held in the pack, towards the Atlantic rather than the Pacific. Eventually she reached north of 83 degrees latitude and leaving the shore far behind. Things had begun to get out of hand by 1914, the crew still had ample canned food and supplemented this by shooting seals and bears to sustain them. But, they had long consumed all fruit and vegetables, which left them in a scurvy ridden condition. Many of the crew were bedridden due to their weakened condition. Fuel for heating had long run out and they attempted to keep warm by burning seal blubber and oil, but soon internal bulkheads of the ship's interior became encased in ice. Internal temperatures were only just over freezing, necessitating that all crew continually remained fully clothed, huddling over the meagre flames created by lamps.

These appalling conditions eventually resulted in a non-violent mutiny of the crew in which Brusilov relieved navigator Albanov of his post. Relationships between Brusilov and Albanov had become very tense leading to frequent disputes. Albanov then decided to attempt to reach Siberia on foot, which he believed to be a few hundred miles to the south, to search for assistance. He requested Brusilov to permit him to make the attempt and some 13 mariners volunteered to accompany him. He took with him a copy of the ship's log book and letters from members of the remaining crew; also any food supplies that could be spared, a shot gun and a few rifles for protection from bears and walrus. Seven kayaks and seven sledges were constructed from any timbers that could be spared, the kayaks were utilised from non-structural timbers stripped from the ship's interior. These timbers were covered by sailcloth taken from spare sails and treated with a finishing coat of paint to make them watertight. Each kayak was designed to carry two men as well as their sledge and supplies. All the clothing and boots to be worn by the party was repaired and put into good order.

This forlorn party set off, dragging behind them their homemade sledges carrying the kayaks to be used when crossing open water. This motley party proceeded on snow shoes and by skiing, but in the inhospitable climate and uneven icy conditions members of the party were rapidly whittled down. Three members of the party gave up and returned to the ship within the first few days, defeated by the harsh conditions.
