Ebbw River

The Ebbw is a river in South Wales which gives its name to the town of Ebbw Vale. The Ebbw River is joined by the Ebbw Fach River (Welsh meaning 'little Ebbw river') at Aberbeeg. The tributary Sirhowy River joins at Crosskeys, then the river continues flowing south east, through the town of Risca, then through Rogerstone, Bassaleg and alongside Tredegar Park. The Ebbw then at the western end of Newport it joins with the River Usk, before flowing into the Severn Estuary. In common with the nearby Sirhowy River and Rhymney River the correct name for the river is 'Ebbw River', not the more usual 'River Ebbw'.

For more than two hundred years, the Ebbw River played an important role in the industrialisation of the valleys. Iron works were established at the heads of both the Ebbw Fach and Ebbw Fawr, and the river became a depository for waste from the coal and steel industries. The demise of these industries has seen the Ebbw's waters flow clean again and its natural life restored.

PROTECTING YOUR FAMILY'S INHERITANCE

Most people hope that their estate will pass on to their children and grandchildren eventually. But this will not happen for many, unless careful arrangements have been made to protect their assets from being taken towards the end of their life to pay for care home fees.

The solution to help protect your estate is a Will incorporating a Property Protection Trust (PPT). A testamentary PPT can only be executed whilst both partners remain alive. Upon death of the first partner, their Will specifies that their share of the property is placed into trust and names the ultimate beneficiary of this share, normally the children and grandchildren of the deceased. The surviving partner, under the terms of the Trust, has the unequivocal right to remain living in the property for the rest of their life. On the death of the second partner the Trust comes to an end and the property passes to the beneficiaries. As the surviving partner does not own the deceased's share of the property it is fully protected for the beneficiaries, so if the surviving partner requires care, or even remarries, this share of the children's inheritance is protected. This last point can be of particular interest to couples who have come together but have children from different partners. A PPT can help each person in a relationship ensure that their children inherit their share of the property, while giving their surviving partner the ability to live in the property for the rest of their life. If the surviving partner wants to move to another property, they can still sell the property and the proceeds be used to purchase a new property; the terms of the trust remain over the new property. Westminster Law will assess your current circumstances and arrange the trust that will provide the best protection for you, your family and your assets.

Twmbarlwm Society Review 2023

It's that time of year again when we reflect on last year's achievements and failures – so I like to browse through all my photographs to act as an aide-memoire.

When I started looking at my hundreds, nay thousands, of photos, it proves we were as busy as ever, but unfortunately, due to space, I can barely scrape the surface here, so please visit our website to see more.

My first visit to Twmbarlwm was on 1st January and I was surprised to see how many people were up there. It was a fine but overcast day and bitterly cold but the car park was full and there were people continuously climbing the slopes to the top all the time we were there – it's great to see and a clear indication how important the mountain is to locals.

Through January and February our contractors completed the stone path from the dry-stone wall to the base of the twmp and installed a new base around the trig-point – which was a welcome sight for those hundreds of visitors who, once more, joined us on our Good Friday, annual Hot-Cross-Bun walk.

You can't really see it in the photo but we had installed a new stock fence from Pegwn-y-Bwlch around the top of the mountain to the forestry road on the south west slope of the hill-fort. This was to contain the cattle that were introduced as part of our conservation grazing scheme.

Also as part of our land management scheme to improve the bio-diversity of the area, a hardy group of volunteers did some bracken bashing on a few horrendous weekends in August and September.

Although we have done no physical archaeological work on the mountain this year, the work with CPAT and Cadw goes on and we will be publishing the finished report of last year's digs very soon.

But no round-up would be complete without a mention of the many volunteers who join us once a month, come rain or shine, to do a litter pick centred on the car park and ranging all round the mountain slopes – your help and dedication is greatly appreciated by us and every visitor.

Cymdeithas Twmbarlwm Society meet at the car park below Twmbarlwm's summit for a litter pick and volunteer workday on the last Sunday of every month to which everyone is invited, it's not all hard work and it's a great opportunity to find your way around up there.

We organise walks and other events throughout the year so watch our website and Facebook page for details.

Move opens up interesting avenues for Newport U3A

Newport u3a's move to the Dolman Theatre and our association with the Newport Playgoers Society have opened up interesting new avenues for us.

Steve and Chris Bissex-Williams are long-time members of NPS and have joined our Choir and organise special events for us. They recently co-directed a production of 'The Shakespeare Revue' at the Dolman Theatre - a witty and enchanting collection of music and skits written by theatre's finest comic writers that were inspired by the Bard.

Steven Lansdown is also a member of the choir and has many years' experience in amateur dramatics. He successfully auditioned for a role through the friendship he has formed with Steve.

In addition, Pam Linton who was a u3a member for 22 years and a previous Convenor of the Choir is also the Musical Director of NPS.

Newport u3a provides 40 social, active and cultural groups for the retired at the Dolman Theatre Wednesdays to Fridays during term time at 9.45-15.00. For more information visit u3asites.org.uk/newportsewales or phone Angela Robins on 07983 130541.

Clearly, There's No End in Sight

We have been writing about our exploits since 2008. In 2015, we wrote about an incident which occurred in 2008. We must have been short of material then. This was an absolutely appalling story (see photo) of an adult swan which survived being snared – hooks in both feet and a mass of heavy duty braided line - in the Severn Estuary off Black Rock near Portskewett. Until very recently, this was the scariest rescue from more points of view than one, in which we had ever become involved, with, potentially, the most appalling consequences; the swan would have drowned when the tide came in.

Now, this autumn, the horrors of this incident have been relived and exceeded. Over the years there have been calls from time to time from the lakes at Beaufort. Almost without exception, these have been to deal with angling related problems. In a way, this time round, the problem was relatively minor; the male swan was not moving very freely on the water on account of what amounted to a tourniquet around the lower part of his right leg. Clearly, it had been there some time, and the line had cut in very deeply, but, not without difficulty, this was removed, and the swan was released back with his partner.

A week later, another call from Beaufort; the same swan was struggling to free itself from fishing line in the middle of the lake (upper of two). With the best will in the world, from a standing start it would be difficult to reach a position to be able to do anything in under one hour, but we did the very best we could.

Approaching the lake with a full array of rescue kit, including binoculars. There was no obvious sign of the swan. It was only by moving closer, and changing the angle of view that we obtained the first very frightening sign of what we were looking for – it looked very much as if we were already too late. Away, on the far side of the lake was a small white 'patch' under an overhanging alder tree. Immediately, one could not do other than to fear the worst. Laden with gear as we were, we crossed to the other side of the lake as fast as we were able, only for our worst fears to be confirmed.

It wasn't easy to access the water's edge and then to retrieve the body, then, only with the aid of our longest swan hook.

Meantime, while we were preoccupied with the need to do this, we were all too aware of the partner moving around close by, calling plaintively as they do in such circumstances – such a sad sad sound, and there was nothing we could do to ease her distress.

There was line everywhere, many times tight around one leg, and leading ultimately to a medium to large hook caught in the tip of the swan's beak. We cannot begin to imagine the struggle which this poor innocent creature put up before he finally died.

As we have had cause to say again and again recently, nothing has changed in the 40 years we have been doing this work; how depressing is that!

THE UK'S #1 KITCHEN MAKEOVER COMPANY

RISCA MUSEUM

Waunfawr and the Black Vein Colliery

Part 1, up to 1796

The information below is taken from a paper produced by the late Dr Tony Jukes who was one of the founders of the Risca Museum. Tony was a consummate local historian and the foremost authority on the history of Risca in spite of being a native of Portsmouth and living in Machen, on the wrong side of the hill!

The outcrop of the coal on the eastern breast of Mynydd Mach is marked by a series of bell pit workings, as it sweeps down in a northerly direction through several fields formerly known as Waun Fawr and through woodland (now partially removed) that descends towards the confluence of the Sirhowy and Ebbw rivers. The land had various leaseholders and tenant farmers but was owned by the Tredegar estate who retained the mineral rights. In 1692 Nathaniel Tainton took a lease on a 30 acre farm, a small holding of 11 acres with two houses and the enclosure known as Waun Fawr. The Tredegar estate 'reserved right of access for their servants to cut wood, make charcoal, make gutters for conveying water to or from the said coal or mineral works which shall or may be advantageous to or prejudicial for the digging, scouring and raising of any coal or minerals doing as little damage as possible to the said Nathaniel Tainton'. The Waun Fawr coal works had existed since at least 1670 and possibly much earlier. In 1753, William Morgan of Tredegar came to an agreement with the adjoining landowner, Henry Morgan of Penllwyn Saph. He was granted the right to drain his coal works through the lands of Henry Morgan and also had the right 'to make a good, sound and sufficient road or way from the said Coal Works through and over the said lands to the great road leading from Machen Village towards Caerphilly'.

In 1770, Charles Phillips of Risca House and John Oldfield, also of Risca, leased the Waun Fawr coal works from the Tredegar estate for a term of 21 years. They were also granted the right to erect a lime kiln on any convenient unlet ground and to dig and raise limestone. The upper farm was rented by Henry Vigers and Company, lead miners; John Oldfield was involved with the lead company.

Following the death of Charles Phillips in 1775, a new deed of partnership was drawn up in which John Oldfield held a quarter share, Evan Phillips of Machen a quarter share, the children of Charles Phillips an eighth share in total and James Edwards of Machen an eighth share. Increased partners probably provided extra capital needed but, even so, the new company was frequently in arrears of rent. John Oldfield died in 1791 and although their lease expired that year, James Edwards and Company carried on the Waun Fawr coal works until 1796.
