Cattle are key to the success of the Conservation Grazing Scheme on Twmbarlwm and will greatly improve the bio-diversity of the area.

Twmbarlwm – The Work Continues Where We Left Off Last Year…

Last year the Society started promoting and helping out with new land management measures on Twmbarlwm, which I informed you about on these pages.

Working with the Commoners, Cadw, CCBC, GWT and Llanarth Estates we will be continuing the work and we hope to get our members and volunteers involved too.

We were, unfortunately, a little late off the mark with our bracken bashing events and the fence around the SAM wasn't quite ready to contain the cattle on top for the conservation grazing aspect of the scheme.

Bracken bashing – a vital part of our land management on Twmbarlwm.

However, this year will start with some gorse clearance on the upper slopes of the hill-fort. This will greatly help with the bracken bashing due to come later in the year when the ground-nesting birds' breeding season is over.

With the new kissing-gate installed at Pegwn-y-Bwlch there is now no danger of the cattle wandering down the wrong side of the mountain and therefore they will be released onto the hill in April or May to do their bit to improve the area's bio-diversity.

Remember to keep to the countryside code around the cattle – those on Twmbarlwm are naturally docile and do not pose a risk to walkers, however, visitors are advised not to approach them or startle them, and to keep dogs on leads when around them.

Some work was done repairing the paths last autumn but after the winter weather they need re-visiting. So occasionally you may see workers with heavy machinery up there, please be wary and give them a wide berth.

THE Twmbarlwm HOT CROSS BUN WALK

Good Friday
29th March 2024

Hundreds of people trek to the the summit of Twmbarlwm on Good Friday

One of the great traditions we have in Risca and surrounding area is the annual pilgrimage to the top of Twmbarlwm.

Again this year CTS will organise group walks and offer free Hot-Cross-Buns to those who come along with us.

Even if you don't want to take part in our group walks we still want to encourage you to keep this tradition alive. Get up there with family and friends and why not bring a picnic with you to enjoy while you take in the breathtaking views at the top.

The fences we and the farmers have installed all around Twmbarlwm are vital for land and livestock management and are very expensive. We continually monitor them and are always disappointed to find that some people in our community see fit to rip them down. Be aware, this is criminal damage and when culprits are discovered they will be punished under law.

I urge anyone who witnesses such damage to report it to the police on their 101 non-emergency service (or via e-mail to contact@gwent.police.uk.).

A dedicated police unit,The Rural Crime Team, has been set up within Gwent especially to deal with such incidents.

TERRY EVANS
Chairman Cymdeitas Twmbarlwm Society

Cymdeithas Twmbarlwm Society meet at the car park below Twmbarlwm's summit for a litter pick and volunteer workday on the last Sunday of every month to which everyone is invited, it's not all hard work and it's a great opportunity to find your way around up there. We organise walks and other events throughout the year so watch our website and Facebook page for details.

PROTECTING YOUR FAMILY'S INHERITANCE

Most people hope that their estate will pass on to their children and grandchildren eventually. But this will not happen for many, unless careful arrangements have been made to protect their assets from being taken towards the end of their life to pay for care home fees.

The solution to help protect your estate is a Will incorporating a Property Protection Trust (PPT). A testamentary PPT can only be executed whilst both partners remain alive. Upon death of the first partner, their Will specifies that their share of the property is placed into trust and names the ultimate beneficiary of this share, normally the children and grandchildren of the deceased. The surviving partner, under the terms of the Trust, has the unequivocal right to remain living in the property for the rest of their life. On the death of the second partner the Trust comes to an end and the property passes to the beneficiaries. As the surviving partner does not own the deceased's share of the property it is fully protected for the beneficiaries, so if the surviving partner requires care, or even remarries, this share of the children's inheritance is protected. This last point can be of particular interest to couples who have come together but have children from different partners. A PPT can help each person in a relationship ensure that their children inherit their share of the property, while giving their surviving partner the ability to live in the property for the rest of their life. If the surviving partner wants to move to another property, they can still sell the property and the proceeds be used to purchase a new property; the terms of the trust remain over the new property.

Westminster Law will assess your current circumstances and arrange the trust that will provide the best protection for you, your family and your assets.

Risca MUSEUM

Columbian Printing Press – Update

History

The Columbian is amongst the earliest printing presses to be made entirely of iron. For more than 450 years printing presses had remained much the same as that used by Gutenberg and made entirely from wood.

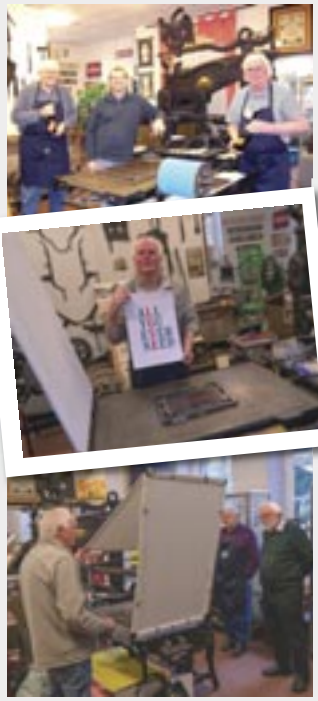

George Clymer was an American born in 1754, his first Columbian press, an improvement on earlier English iron presses, was manufactured around 1813. Although some machines were sold in America they did not prove as popular as he had hoped; American printers seemingly content with the considerably cheaper wooden presses in spite of these producing poorer quality print. Clymer, at the age of 64, made the decision to try his luck in England and moved to London around 1818.

The Columbian proved popular in Britain and, at some point between 1825 and 1830, a partnership was entered into with Samuel Dixon and presses began to carry the name of Clymer & Dixon.

The Risca Press

The Press in the Risca Museum is dated 1832, one of only about 40 made during Clymer's lifetime and earlier than examples in major institutions such as The Science Museum in London, The Smithsonian Museum in USA and the National Museum of Scotland.

It's early history is unknown but it was purchased, second hand, by Starling Press of Risca in the late 1800s and they had it for 74 years. They donated it to Newport

Museum (this was before there was a Risca Museum) and it was the main feature in their entrance hall for several years.

Some years later it was dismantled and removed, in three sections, to their off-site storage in one of the old chapels in St. Woolos cemetery. Sometime later, a notice appeared in the South Wales Argus stating that 'Newport Museum wishes to dispose of some items no longer required', followed by a list of about a dozen items including 'a printing press from Risca'. This alerted Risca Museum who had the pieces transported from Newport, then cleaned and treated before reassembly.

At Risca Museum

A year or two after installing the press, Adrian & Richard of the British Printing Society visited and made the statement (which they may now regret) 'we think we can get it working'. Over several weeks they did just that and then volunteered to attend on one Saturday every month to demonstrate.

More recently, they announced that there were missing parts, specifically the tympan and frisket. Apparently, this was the mechanism for feeding paper rapidly into the press but, in the early 1900s more efficient systems had been developed. This resulted in the Columbian being relegated to printing individual sheets or small runs, making the paper-feeding parts redundant and so they were scrapped.

With the support of local councillor, Ceri Wright, we obtained a grant from Caerphilly CBC, Adrian & Richard produced a specification and found an engineering blacksmith who was able to make modern replicas of the original parts.

The Columbian Press in Risca Museum is a very early example and a rarity being that it is in an original condition and working. It can be seen during Museum opening times, 10am to 12.30pm every Saturday. Adrian & Richard will be in attendance on the following dates in the next few months – March 23rd, April 20th, May 18th & June 29th.

Tredegar House Folk Festival

10th – 12th May 2024 - Something for everyone

Well, another year has flown by and here we are eagerly anticipating the 33rd Tredegar House Folk Festival which will be held over the weekend of 10th-12th May.

After the triumph of last year's festival headlined by the great Barbara Dickson, it appeared difficult to maintain that high level...but we are sure we have managed it with folk legends Lindisfarne (Meet Me on the Corner, Fog on the Tyne, Lady Eleanor) headlining the big Sunday late afternoon concert supported by four outstanding acts.

The festival starts on Friday afternoon with a free concert then a ticketed concert Friday evening (four acts) headlined by local band Rusty Shackle, plus, for those more interested in dancing than listening there is a Cajun and Zydeco workshop with the Whiskey River Boys and an expert caller. Saturday brings more free concerts and our famous free dance displays, with the ticketed Saturday evening concert (four acts) headlined by the Young'Uns. Saturday night's ceilidh features Juice with caller Ned Clamp.

There will be children's entertainers, including the fantastic Dan the Hat making a return visit after wowing adults and children alike last year. Cotyledon farmers market will be onsite Saturday and Sunday, plus craft stalls, a CAMRA bar, food outlets, workshops, sessions...not forgetting the grand parades...in fact all the usual festival fare.

For those who like to come to the festival for the wonderful dance displays...you won't be disappointed. All the local and UK dance teams you expect to see will be there plus some surprises, and the international group joining us this year is Speelschaar Ossaart from East Flanders in Belgium. On Saturday morning there will also be a mini Gwyl Plant featuring local schoolchildren.

Lindisfarne

Also, making a one-off appearance will be the Great Basque Folk Orchestra and Dancers with over 50 performers on stage...this will be a free concert at midday on Sunday. The grand parade moves to 11.30am that day (12.30 on Saturday) to accommodate all that is happening.

This year for the first time the festival will take place around the car park of Tredegar House in a 'festival village', as the National Trust is carrying out conservation work on the property causing the courtyard marquee, craft stalls and bars to be repositioned.

Once again we are fortunate to have received the backing of the Arts Council of Wales in the form of a grant, plus we hope for continuing support from sponsors such as the Welsh Folk Dance Society and Admiral Insurance.

Such a great variety of music and dance styles on offer that there really is something for everyone. All we need now is some decent weather!

Weekend tickets cost £115 including camping, and individual concerts are £45, with the ceilidhs £8 (Friday) and £10 (Saturday). Children 7-16 are half price with specially priced family tickets available for the ceilidhs. There is too much going on to mention it all in this article, so, check out the website www.tredegarhousefestival.org.uk for more details including music clips of all concert artists, or keep up to date on our Facebook page. All tickets purchased include a free visit inside Tredegar House.

River Taff

The River Taff is formed at Cefn-coed-y-cymmer in Merthyr Tydfil at the confluence (meeting point) of the rivers Taf Fechan (little Taff) and the Taf Fawr (great Taff).

The Taf Fawr rises below the peak of Corn Du, south-west of Pen y Fan. It flows through three reservoirs, the Cantref Reservoir, completed in 1892, the Beacons Reservoir, completed in1897. The third in the chain, Llwyn-on Reservoir, did not start construction until 1911, impounding of water began in June 1926.

The Taf Fechan rises immediately to the south of Pen y Fan and runs southwards through three reservoirs and a former fourth, now abandoned, Pentwyn Reservoir, which was built between 1859 and February 1863. The Upper Neuadd and Lower Neuadd reservoirs began work in 1896 and finished in 1902. The Pontsticill Reservoir was started in June 1913 and was opened in July 1927.

The River Taff then flows south, passing through Pontypridd and through to Taff's Well. It flows underneath the M4 Motorway, before turning south-eastward and flowing past the Cardiff suburbs of Radyr, Whitchurch, Llandaff, Pontcanna.

In the early 1840s the South Wales Railway was trying to find a suitable site for a railway station, but the area that is now Cardiff Central railway station was prone to flooding. At this point the main route of the Taff was around Cardiff Castle and down what is now Westgate Street. It now passes through Bute Park, past the Cardiff Arms Park and the Principality Stadium. The Taff flows into Cardiff Bay, an artificial lake created by the construction of the Cardiff Bay Barrage in the 1990s, before flowing into the Severn Estuary. The River Taff is 64 km long.
