Twmbarlwm - The Challenges of 2024 and Beyond

The beauty of the landscape as we all prefer to see

Gosh — where did that year go? It's already time for me to look back on the achievements and failures of 2024 – a job that requires me to delve into my library of photographs to act as an aide-memoire.

As in so many previous years my photos show that we've had another challenging year on the mountain and yet it is still a beautiful landscape with exquisite views. I'd rather not dwell on the negativity shown by some of the photos, but use the examples as a rallying call to ask visitors to be vigilant, report incidents you find on your wanderings and support the Society in any way you can. (Visit our website to see 2024 in photos).

Damage to signage costs us in time and money

In my collection there are far too many photos of litter and fly-tipping – a practice that is unsightly and a serious environmental hazard but it is a nationwide problem that the Society tackles as best we can with KWT and our monthly litter picks.

Many photos illustrate the damage done to the landscape by selfish off-road vehicle users – another widespread problem that we try to control with help from the police and local authorities.

There are photos of general vandalism such as the cutting of fences, fire-starting or defacing signs – this is called anti-social behaviour because the perpetrators simply don't realise the harm they are doing to the pockets and good honest work done by the community to benefit everyone now and into the future.

The Cwmcarn Forest Drive's future is at stake

The Twmbarlwm Society attempts to address these problems, and more, with support of the Commoners, Cadw, the Land Owners and local Authorities and we anticipate many more challenges in the future.

For instance there are plans afoot to erect over 20 wind turbines on Mynydd Maen which will surely be a blot on our precious landscape; and The Cwmcarn Forest Drive is rumoured to be further developed in the hands of private investors – a potential major worry if not handled sympathetically.

Both these projects will have a profound impact on Twmbarlwm and its iron-age hill fort and we intend to make sure the people's voices are heard in the process. With such a wide remit of responsibilities we could really do with more willing volunteers and expertise to take the Twmbarlwm Society forward.

We organise walks and other events throughout the year so watch our website and Facebook page for details.

WHY DO WE NEED A PROPERTY PROTECTION TRUST?

Most people hope that their estate will pass on to their children and grandchildren eventually. But this will not happen for many, unless careful arrangements have been made to protect their assets from being taken towards the end of their life to pay for care home fees.

The solution to help protect your estate is a Will incorporating a Property Protection Trust (PPT). A testamentary PPT can only be executed whilst both partners remain alive. Upon death of the first partner, their Will specifies that their share of the property is placed into trust and names the ultimate beneficiary of this share, normally the children and grandchildren of the deceased. The surviving partner, under the terms of the Trust, has the unequivocal right to remain living in the property for the rest of their life. On the death of the second partner the Trust comes to an end and the property passes to the beneficiaries. As the surviving partner does not own the deceased's share of the property it is fully protected for the beneficiaries, so if the surviving partner requires care, or even remarries, this share of the children's inheritance is protected. This last point can be of particular interest to couples who have come together but have children from different partners. A PPT can help each person in a relationship ensure that their children inherit their share of the property, while giving their surviving partner the ability to live in the property for the rest of their life. If the surviving partner wants to move to another property, they can still sell the property and the proceeds be used to purchase a new property; the terms of the trust remain over the new property.

Westminster Law will assess your current circumstances and arrange the trust that will provide the best protection for you, your family and your assets.

The Farmers Arms

Risca Museum, over the years, has received many interesting local items from members of the public. On one recent Saturday morning a visiting couple donated a drinking mug once owned by a distant relative who lived in Ocherwyth.

The mug is in excellent condition and colour decorated with farm tools such as scythes; a plough, a rake, and a poem with the message 'God Speed the Plough'. The base of the mug is labelled, in blue, 'Farmers Arms'.

Tradition has it that coffin bearers carrying Risca citizens to await burial at St. Michael & All Angels Church, Lower Machen, often considered the 'Farmers Arms' to be a convenient place for liquid refreshment while leaving the coffin outside on trestles before continuing their onward journey.

The expanding iron-workers community located on the Pontymister to Risca Road were served by the 'Forge Hammer', 'Rolling Mill', and 'Myrtle Grove', among others. Tin-plate workers living in Ocherwyth were served by the 'Farmers Arms'. Until the late 19th century, Ocherwyth was in Lower Machen (the River Ebbw formed the boundary between the two parishes).

The building still exists as a residential property, although much altered. It is possible that it started off as a cottage and became a beer house before expanding into a fully licensed public house as shown on the first Ordnance Survey map of the area. After becoming one of the Cross & Matthews, (Risca Brewery) tied houses in 1887, in the 20th century it became part of the Hancocks empire.

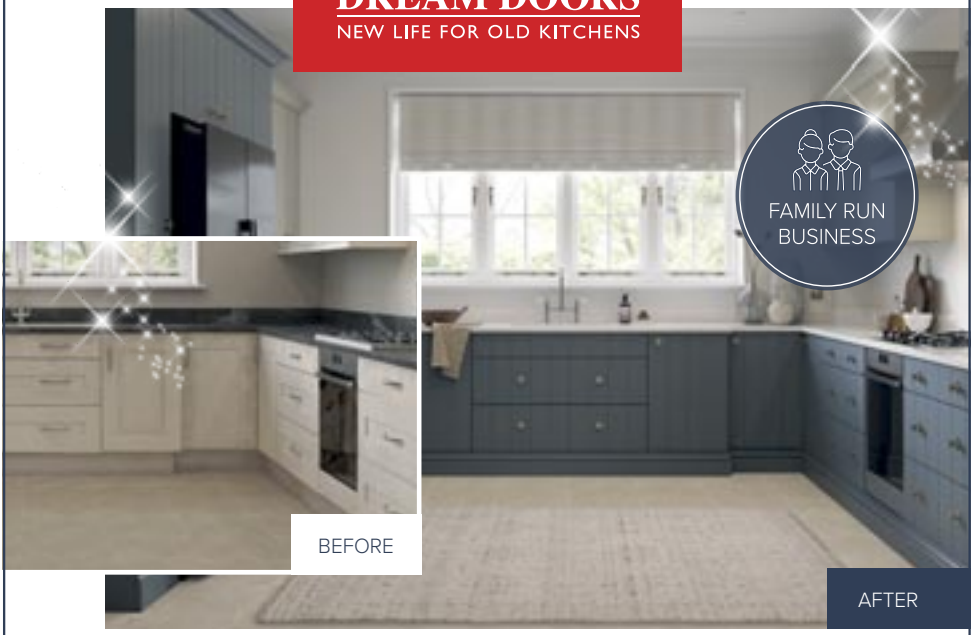

It appears to have closed as a public house in the 1980's. Before this time, it was often the venue for a select group of Oxford Industrial History Society members following the Friday evening talk. The intense conversation often overran official closing time but this never seemed to be an issue at the Farmers Arms!

BETHANY BAPTIST CHURCH RISCA

Have you heard of the hymn?
Count your blessings - Name them one by one

For the last few years Bethany has faced numerous challenges.

Challenge 1
This challenge was a worldwide challenge Covid. This brought change to many people having to think on how to follow their religion. We in Bethany like so many others turn to technology. Zoom services became the norm. On returning to services in the chapel technology enabled us to worship together in a different way. Fortunately we have a technology wizard in our midst.

Challenge 2
This challenge was a very personal challenge. Our minister retired after spending 22 years leading and caring for the congregation. We were fortunate to have two Deacons who took over the running of the church.

Challenge 3
We now had to look at the building. Up stepped a member of the congregation with the knowledge and the contacts resulting in the building being restored into a beautiful and dry welcoming place of worship. These are just 3 of the many, many blessings bestowed upon Bethany church. We have a lot to be thankful for.

How could we show our appreciation of being so well blest?

The idea of a community concert was born. It was decided that it should be a concert for the community of Risca, in the community of Risca, by the community of Risca.

Planning of the concert started and we ended up with a wonderful varied programme. Our adult choir was Swn Y Gan and one word to describe their performance – OUTSTANDING. Our combined junior choir came from Risca and Ty Sign Primary schools. They were FANTASTIC. We had a flute and piano duet, and a young soloist performed a few songs from the shows. They were all MARVELLEOUS. As a thank you to the children we had Mr. Big to perform his wonderful juggling. He was INCREDIBLE.
We finished with a well known hymn accompanied by the organ and wonderful singing by the audience, they were TERRIFIC. The reaction to the evening was WOW. The people of Bethany were thrilled to see so many people in our chapel. Donation baskets were available for those who wanted to donate and £330 was raised for Risca Foodbank. IMPRESSIVE.
THANK YOU to all the performers and the audience. It was all worthwhile. DIOLCH.

Count your blessings - See what God has done

Local author Dale Bradford discusses his new novel, The Time-Travelling Estate Agent, in which Cwmbran - and its iconic Boating Lake - plays a pivotal role...

Have you ever regretted something you didn't do, rather than something you did do? Eric Meek has. He believes the direction of his whole life changed in July 1976, following an incident at Cwmbran Boating Lake.

Fast forward to 2019 and Eric is now the proprietor of estate agency Barrington Meek, with a showroom in Cwmbran Town Centre, when he discovers a property which boasts a truly unique garage conversion. Instead of the more customary home office or gym, it contains a hole in space-time that has been developed into a traversable portal.

A by-product of the homeowner's attempts to emulate the work of pioneering electrical engineer Nikola Tesla, the portal allows movement between 2019 and July 1976.

Presented with a chance to right the wrongs of the past, Eric's adventures in time find him caught up in a decades-old missing persons case while he attempts to improve the lives of those close to him, including his long-dead father.

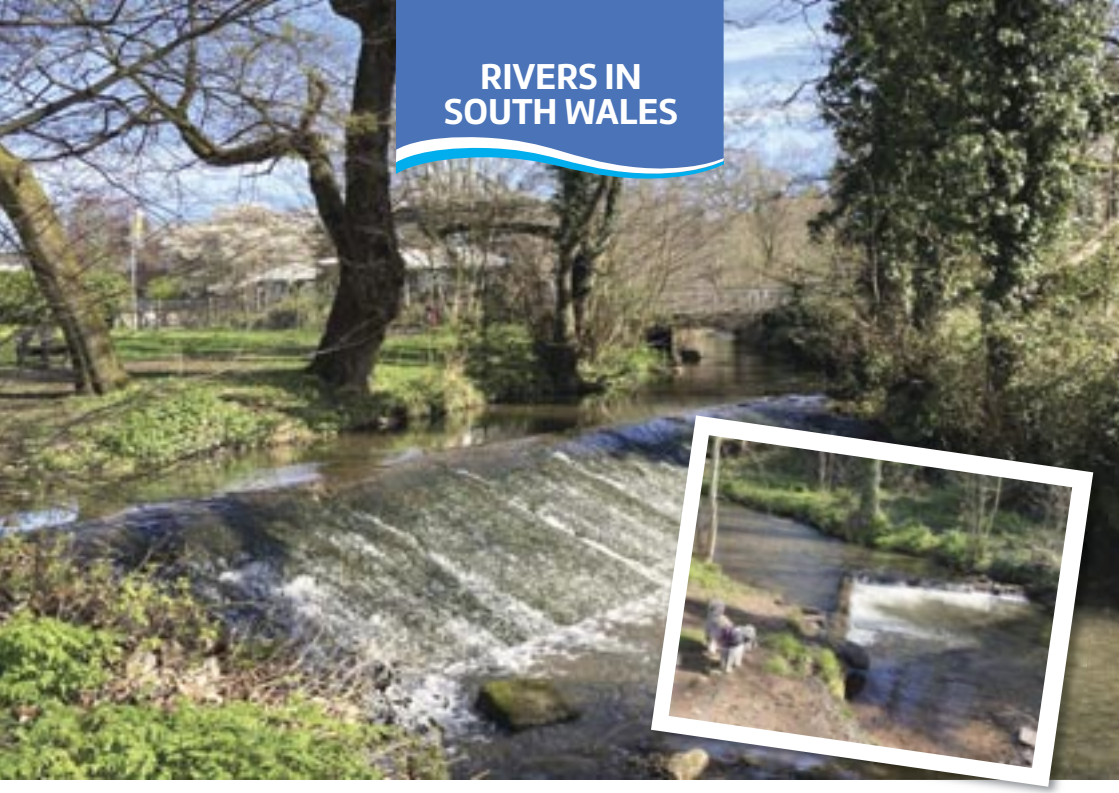

"The Time-Travelling Estate Agent is the story of a first love, a second chance, and a third-age redemption," says author Dale Bradford, who grew up in Cwmbran. "I've always been fascinated by the concept of time travel, even though the greatest scientific minds maintain that it's impossible. Fifty years ago, my iPhone was impossible though, and the story grew from the idea of me meeting my teenage self, and the people I knew back then, and demonstrating my iPhone's capabilities to them."

Will readers learn anything about the property business from reading the novel?

"They might," says Bradford, "I did when researching it, but the book is pure escapism and offers a few hours respite from the depressing global news cycle. Its title suggests it's sci-fi, and there are indeed elements of it, but it also blends a mismatched romance with a murder mystery, while offering gentle nods in the direction of Groundhog Day and 50 First Dates."

The Time-Travelling Estate Agent is available now on Amazon.co.uk in ebook (£1.99), paperback (£12.99), and hardback (£16.99) and it is free to read on Kindle Unlimited. The first four chapters can also be read online instantly via Amazon's Read Sample facility. Go on, treat yourself...

The River Gavenny

The River Gavenny is a short river in Monmouthshire. It rises 1 mile (1.6 km) southwest of the village of Llanvihangel Crucorney from springs near Penyclawdd Court, supplemented by springs in Blaen-Gavenny Wood and tributary streams there and within the Woodland Trust-owned Great Triley Wood. It flows south for about 4 miles (6.4 km) to its confluence with the River Usk towards the eastern end of Castle Meadows at Abergavenny.

The river is crossed by road bridges north of Mardy at Triley Mill and at St Teilo's Church and also, to the east of Mardy by those carrying Nantgavenny Lane, Hereford Road (B4521) and Tredilion Road. The Nantgavenny Lane crossing carries both route 42 of the National Cycle Network and the Beacons Way over the river. The lowermost crossings are at Lower Monk Street (B4233), Monmouth Road (A40) and Mill Street bridges east of Abergavenny town centre. Next to the river there is a stone circle at Swan Meadows, it may look prehistoric but dates from 1912. It was erected for Gorsedd of Bards ceremonies relating to the National Eisteddfod held at Bailey Park in August 1913. In 2001 the Gorsedd stones were moved to Swan Meadows from their original position at the Grove, Monmouth Road. Also, in the bus station next to the river is a Bikers meeting place. The Oasis Snack Bar has been a haunt for years. It welcomes hundreds of Bikers at weekends.

Swan RESCUE

The Grand Tour

Gloucester, The Knap, Tredegar Park and Amroth

Long gone are the days when we could look forward to a pause in calls to rescue a swan in distress. Autumn rescues are dominated by juveniles getting into difficulties as they attempt to leave their parent's territory. This call was received from a member of staff at Tredegar Park (National Trust) as we crossed the Severn Bridge on route to de-tackle an adult swan in Gloucester Docks, from which, for obvious reasons, there was no turning back.

The problem to which our attention was being drawn is a fairly common occurrence – a juvenile swan was stuck behind the railings at the southern end of the lake, trying and obviously failing to return to the water. 'Well, isn't there anyone else who can help?' Shock, horror...No! But the area will be visited as soon as possible… the following morning.

It is important to note the day had already been seriously compromised as a result of a call at 0840 hrs from The Knap at Barry made by a very committed staff member from the Vale of Glamorgan Council who had noticed an ailing swan with what turned out to be an ear infection, and which we had collected and bedded down at HQ.

So, all that was Friday. As promised, early on Saturday morning, with the intention of hospitalising the previous day's casualty at a sanctuary at Amroth, and so loading the swan into the car a visit was paid to Jamaica Walk, i.e. on the landward side of the railings at the end of Tredegar Park Lake. A thorough search was carried out; the only sign of a juvenile swan was a small number of feathers scattered across the dingle which abuts the outfall from the lake. That was searched thoroughly, but nothing further was found. Neither here nor more widely. There seemed little option but to conclude the swan had managed to find another way out. Time therefore to set off for Amroth with the poorly bird from The Knap.

A comfort stop was needed which was provided by calling at Cardiff West Services. In that brief interval two calls were received in quick succession from participants in the Tredegar Park Park Run; they had spotted the missing swan hard up against the railings, and deeply 'submerged' in brambles and other vegetation. There was even a question as to whether or not the swan was still alive. Immediate call for a high-speed return to Tredegar Park where one of the callers, Emma, to whom we shall for ever be grateful, was waiting to help.

Over the years, we have learnt to carry not only tools to deal with embedded fishhooks but also a selection of pruning implements; these were absolutely essential for getting the swan out of his predicament. All things considered he wasn't in bad shape except for a significant wound to his tail. The earlier discovery of feathers now made sense; the swan had been attacked by a dog, which, quite clearly had not been under control.

And so, now with two ailing swans on board, we set off, at the second attempt to provide treatment for both casualties. Mercifully, the injury to the swan which is the main character in this story was not as bad as it might so easily have been. He was considered fit for release and was given a new home when he was released onto The Fendrod Lake on the outskirts of Swansea almost three weeks to the day following his failed attempt to leave Tredegar Park.
