Caerleon
Then & Now

When this photo was taken in April 1979, much time and expense had been invested to restore the old Malt House. Originally a Motor Vehicle Servicing and Charabanc establishment with the first petrol pump in Caerleon, then CM Pattison Engineering Ltd, the head offices for Andsel Thom Ltd, Caerleon Kitchens, Coffiology and Wizard Eco to mention a few.

Extract taken from Norman Stevens's books of Caerleon. They can be purchased from Caerleon Post Office

WHY DO WE NEED A PROPERTY PROTECTION TRUST?

Most people hope that their estate will pass on to their children and grandchildren eventually. But this will not happen for many, unless careful arrangements have been made to protect their assets from being taken towards the end of their life to pay for care home fees.

The solution to help protect your estate is a Will incorporating a Property Protection Trust (PPT). A testamentary PPT can only be executed whilst both partners remain alive. Upon death of the first partner, their Will specifies that their share of the property is placed into trust and names the ultimate beneficiary of this share, normally the children and grandchildren of the deceased. The surviving partner, under the terms of the Trust, has the unequivocal right to remain living in the property for the rest of their life. On the death of the second partner the Trust comes to an end and the property passes to the beneficiaries. As the surviving partner does not own the deceased's share of the property it is fully protected for the beneficiaries, so if the surviving partner requires care, or even remarries, this share of the children's inheritance is protected. This last point can be of particular interest to couples who have come together but have children from different partners. A PPT can help each person in a relationship ensure that their children inherit their share of the property, while giving their surviving partner the ability to live in the property for the rest of their life. If the surviving partner wants to move to another property, they can still sell the property and the proceeds be used to purchase a new property; the terms of the trust remain over the new property.

Westminster Law will assess your current circumstances and arrange the trust that will provide the best protection for you, your family and your assets.

River Ogmore

The River Ogmore runs from north to south from the Ogmore Vale and Gilfach Goch, past Bridgend and Ogmore. The River Ogmore rises at Craig Ogwr (527 m) in the Ogmore Valley as the Ogwr Fawr before it links with the Ogwr Fach at Blackmill. The River Llynfi, the River Garw and finally the River Ewenny in its estuary are all tributaries of the Ogmore which flows into the sea between Ogmore-by-Sea and the Merthyr Mawr sand-dunes.

Until the 1970s raw sewage was discharged directly to the estuary. The construction of the sewage treatment plant in 1974 provided full treatment to the 30:20 standard. In recent years UV treatment has been added to substantially reduce the bacterial and viral load of the treated effluent. However, in periods of heavy rain, emergency outfalls pour into the river, releasing some sewage.

On 29th August 2023, 200 volunteers gathered at the banks of the Ogmore River to help remove 2,000 tyres from the riverbed. This project was coordinated by a local dog walker with the support of 50 different partners/agencies /companies/local individuals. During the clean, 32 trolleys were removed from the river with nearly a tonne of waste plastic and metals.

We have walked along both sides of the river, we parked at Newton Beach and then walked to Merthyr Mawr Beach. On the other side we parked at the Ogmore by Sea car park then walked upriver to the Stepping Stones by Ogmore Castle. Both walks are a round trip of just over one hour.

BOOST YOUR PENSION SAVINGS

Planning to achieve your retirement goals sooner

But, for many different reasons, planning for retirement is a commonly overlooked aspect of personal financial planning and this can often lead to anxiety as your retirement age approaches. We have provided five ways to boost your pension savings and help you achieve your retirement goals sooner.

REVIEW YOUR CONTRIBUTIONS

Sometimes the simplest solutions are the most effective. If you want to boost your retirement savings, the simplest solution is to increase your contributions. You may think you cannot afford to, but even a slight increase can make a big difference. For those lucky enough to receive a pay rise in line with inflation every year, increasing your pension contributions by just 1% could add thousands to your eventual pension pot. The reason why a relatively small increase in pension contributions can result in such a large increase in the value of your pension pot is because of the power of compounding. The earlier you invest your money, the more you benefit from the effects of compounding. Adding more money to your pension pot by increasing your contributions just makes the compounding effect even better.

REVIEW YOUR STRATEGY

A missed opportunity for many pension holders is failing to choose how their pension is invested.

Some people leave this decision in the hands of their workplace or pension provider. Many pension providers will give you several options for investment strategies. If you are in the default option, you could achieve higher returns with a different strategy (though this will usually mean taking on more investment risk). Note that this may not be appropriate in all circumstances, particularly if you are close to retirement.

KNOW YOUR ALLOWANCES

When you save in a pension for your retirement, the government adds tax relief on top of the money you contribute, helping you to grow your savings faster. However, there is a limit to the amount of contributions you can claim tax relief on each year, which is called your 'annual allowance'. It is currently £60,000 (tax year 2025/26), but in some cases may be lower. If you want to contribute more than your annual allowance into your pension in one tax year (for example, if you have received a windfall and want to put it aside for the future), it is worth knowing that you can use any unused allowance from up to three previous years. So, if you have £10,000 of unused allowance in each of the past three years, that is another £30,000 you can claim tax relief on this year. The tax relief on this amount would be at least £7,500, depending on your tax band.

TRACE LOST PENSIONS

Usually, starting a job with a new employer means starting a new pension, when that happens, some people may overlook the pension they had with their last employer. As a result, many people have pensions with previous employers that they have lost track of – and rediscovering them can give a huge boost to your retirement savings. Look through any documentation you still have from your past employers to see if you can find your pension or policy number. If you cannot, you can contact the provider anyway and they should be able to find your pension by using other details.

WILL YOU ACHIEVE THE RETIREMENT YOU DESERVE?

When the future is unclear, the thought of retirement may well feel more daunting than exciting. We will advise you on how to build the wealth you need to achieve the retirement you deserve. Don't leave it to chance – to discuss your requirements, come and talk to us today, call us on 01633 840000 or email info@kymin.co.uk to book a no-obligation financial health check.

Cold Knap beach

Cold Knap beach is a long stretch of steeply shelving pebbles, although at low tide some sand is revealed. The beach is located around a mile from the main resort beach at Barry. As a result, it is always quieter, although it still gets busy in the summer.

Facilities are good here and the area includes a lake shaped like a Welsh harp with ducks and swans. It is a favourite place for model boat enthusiasts on weekends

There was previously an outdoor swimming pool, but this has now been closed and filled in and the area turned into a tourist trail and the Richard Taylor Memorial Skatepark. While you're there visit one of the lovely coffee shops and eateries nearby.

Twmbarlwm Therapy

Not only do you get magnificent views like this, but walking will also raise your spirits and improve your general health. Photo taken from What3Words location – wanted.staple.tried

Spring came as a welcome surprise this year – dry, sunny and relatively warm and gave us no excuse not to get back out for a nice walk up our favourite mountain.

As I write this we are coming up to our famous Good Friday Hot-Cross-Bun walk up Twmbarlwm and for the first time in an awful long time I won't be joining them – which is making me a little bit fed up and gives me the reason for this article.

These articles have featured the subject of walking many times, and for good reason – Twmbarlwm and the surrounding countryside holds a wide selection of walks to suit your physical or mental fitness.

If you need a bit of tranquillity there's some lovely quiet spots where you can sit and admire the beauty of the surrounding nature such as alongside 'Pwll Tra' – a secluded pool in the middle of the forestry on the eastern edge of the ridgeway.

Just taking in the scenery as you walk is a positive therapy in itself and the walk from Car Park 2 of Cwmcarn Forest Drive along the ridgeway to the Twmp gives wide panoramas over the Severn Estuary to the south or towards the Brecon Beacons in the north.

My walks usually start from the car park on the Risca side of the mountain but if you prefer a more challenging walk you could climb up Twmbarlwm from Cwmcarn via Pegwn-y-Bwlch (Car Park 7 of the Drive) – that will get your lungs working and build muscles in your legs you never knew you had.

For me, Twmbarlwm is the one place I like to go when I'm suffering some malady like a bad cold or even worse, man-flu. I can cough and splutter all I want without spreading my germs and, often, the cold, driving wind and rain keeps my head clear until I get home.

Pegwn-y-Bwlch – What3Words location – character.awesome.rider

Whenever I feel a bit down or need to work through some personal conundrum, Twmbarlwm is the one place I can find the solitude to give myself a good talking to. The place has a spiritual aura about it that no other local mountain has, it has a mystery about it that permeates into one's inner self and sets the imagination soaring.

Pwll Tra (Pool of Avarice) What3Words location – bravo.admire.sooner

'Mental health' is a phrase that's bandied about a lot nowadays and I guess that's the main message I want to address. Walking is the easiest activity you can do to beat the stresses of everyday life – you just need a good pair of shoes and some decent countryside to wander through – that is what Twmbarlwm has to offer in abundance.

It's never been easier to get out for a walk, you don't have to be able to read a map there's plenty of apps on your smartphone that will help you. And there are plenty of groups, such as Islwyn Ramblers, who would welcome new comers – so get out there, get fit and enjoy it.

TERRY EVANS (Chairman CTS

Cymdeithas Twmbarlwm Society meet at the car park below Twmbarlwm's summit for a litter pick and volunteer workday on the last Sunday of every month to which everyone is invited, it's not all hard work and it's a great opportunity to find your way around up there. We organise walks and other events throughout the year so watch our website and Facebook page for details.

The Greatest Showmen

by Paul Minton

I was reminiscing about childhood memories recently and recalled an experience that has always stayed with me. A circus was in town and my parents had taken me into the Big Top to watch the acts. In a sign of the times, I remember a parade of elephants and after they had left the arena, I had placed my hand on a wall that encircled the circus ring only to find it sopping wet. Both the puddle and my hand smelled strongly of jumbo urine. For this reason, Dumbo has always been an uncomfortable watch.

Spectacles like circuses were once massive attractions and over the years, Newport has had its fair share of memorable shows and remarkable showmen. Of particular note was Charles Blondin, who achieved fame in 1859 by crossing the Niagara Falls on a tightrope spanning 1,100 feet. In 1871, he performed in front of some 20,000 spectators at the mildly less impressive Newport Marshes, where a rope, at a height of 50 feet, had been attached between two posts 300 feet apart. Each pole was topped by a platform with an awning to allow costume changes. On one fine but slightly breezy September afternoon, Blondin crossed the wire carrying an enormous balancing pole whilst marching in time to music played by a band below. After an initial crossing with pretend slips to thrill the audience, he repeated the feat with his head enclosed by a sack and then amazed the crowd by lying down for a rest. He rode a specially adapted bicycle for one pass and on another, he carried a stove to the middle of the rope, where he cooked omelettes for appreciative onlookers. Blondin continued to perform in Newport over subsequent days and during one crossing, he is even said to have conveyed the Mayor on his back.

Buffalo Bill Cody

On 16 July 1903, Buffalo Bill rode into town, albeit via four trains that carried hundreds of men and horses. Colonel William Cody, better known as Buffalo Bill, was a former scout, pony express rider, and buffalo hunter, who had morphed into a world-renowned entertainer. His Wild West Show was held in Shaftesbury Park and had various set pieces including an attack on a wagon train, Native American war dances, a crack shot demonstration given by Bill on horseback, and a lunge at spectators by mounted, sword-wielding Cossacks. Curiously, a former Barnum & Bailey wooden-bodied railway coach (yes, that Barnum!) bearing the words, Buffalo Bill's Wild West, was later used as a foreman's office at Newport Docks.

Buffalo Bill was not the only Cody to visit Newport. In 1900, Samuel Cody was sued by a Mr Perman following a regrettable episode at the town's Lyceum Theatre. Sam Cody often claimed to be related to Bill but in fact, he had changed his surname from Cowdery in order to cash in on the other man's reputation. On the day of the incident, Perman had been asked to check the lighting of the venue during a production of The Klondyke Bullet, which featured an exhibition of shooting by Sam Cody. Whilst shots were fired from the stage at wooden blocks thrown into the air, a stray bullet struck the forearm of the unfortunate Perman, who had ascended to a perch to carry out his inspection. The defence argued that Mr Perman should not have put himself in a place of danger when the gun was being discharged. Nevertheless, the judge in the case rejected this argument and awarded £35 plus costs against the defendant.

Samuel Cody's antics, however, proved not to be his enduring legacy: in 1908, he became the first person to pilot a powered aeroplane in Great Britain.
