Belle Vue
Park & Tea Room

What's On JULY & AUGUST

We are anticipating brass bands will book to play on the bandstand. Whilst it is difficult to get dates in advance, we shall let you know as soon as we know!

July

Sunday 5th 11.00am – 4.00pm
Our monthly market sets off the month with its artisan arrangement of wonderful food, craft, gifts and homeware. We are welcoming more than 35 stalls each month so plenty for you to browse and buy. Our café will operate a fully disposable crockery service to make it more efficient for our customers. Apologies to those who love our lovely china and earthenware – we have those every day there is not a market being delivered.

Friday 24th May 6.00pm – 9.00pm
Street Food Friday returns with vibrant music from the Three O'clock Club accompanied by Fairy Glen and Tipsy Mule bars and selection of street food. The café will serve soft drinks and snacks too. We would rather people didn't bring their own food and drink this year. Too many disposables were left last year and we need our traders to continue to support these community events.

Sunday 19th May 11.00am – 4.00pm
Another opportunity to buy those artisan bakes, arts and crafts and gifts. Belle Vue has its own stall too with a range of hot and chilled meals and snacks, cheese and fresh farm eggs. You can buy fresh and local meat from Chris Hayman butchers at our market. If you have any requests, please let us know by Wednesday, otherwise bacon, sausage, minced beef, chuck steak and chicken breasts are the usual items available with scotch eggs and pies also on offer too.

August

Sunday 2nd 11.00am – 4.00pm
Our lovely market returns with new and favourite stalls to tempt you. We are continuing to offer one free place to a registered charity whilst we have the charity donation bucket which goes to Sparkle charity for Serennu.

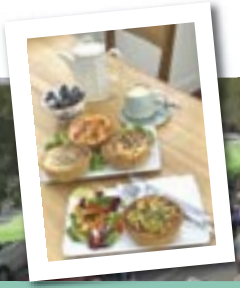

Sunday 16th 11.00am – 4.00pm
We are thrilled to be having regular second markets each month. It really is a chance to support buying local. With the pressure on supermarket and wholesale prices, local markets are even better value, lower food and chain miles and you are supporting local independent traders.

Friday 21st 6.00pm – 9.00pm
We couldn't end our summer programme without including the fabulous 360 Degrees. Centre stage on the bandstand accompanied by our tasty regular street food vendors and bar from Tipsy Mule and Fairy Glen.

Look out for more information on our notice boards and Facebook/Instagram @Bellevuetearooms and on our website www.bellevuetearoom.uk. Alternatively text or phone Jan on 07737 630657.

WHY DO WE NEED A PROPERTY PROTECTION TRUST?

Most people hope that their estate will pass on to their children and grandchildren eventually. But this will not happen for many, unless careful arrangements have been made to protect their assets from being taken towards the end of their life to pay for care home fees.

The solution to help protect your estate is a Will incorporating a Property Protection Trust (PPT). A testamentary PPT can only be executed whilst both partners remain alive. Upon death of the first partner, their Will specifies that their share of the property is placed into trust and names the ultimate beneficiary of this share, normally the children and grandchildren of the deceased. The surviving partner, under the terms of the Trust, has the unequivocal right to remain living in the property for the rest of their life. On the death of the second partner the Trust comes to an end and the property passes to the beneficiaries. As the surviving partner does not own the deceased's share of the property it is fully protected for the beneficiaries, so if the surviving partner requires care, or even remarries, this share of the children's inheritance is protected. This last point can be of particular interest to couples who have come together but have children from different partners. A PPT can help each person in a relationship ensure that their children inherit their share of the property, while giving their surviving partner the ability to live in the property for the rest of their life. If the surviving partner wants to move to another property, they can still sell the property and the proceeds be used to purchase a new property; the terms of the trust remain over the new property.

Westminster Law will assess your current circumstances and arrange the trust that will provide the best protection for you, your family and your assets.

Newport Bathroom Centre

NOT JUST BATHROOMS

Family-run business within Wales' largest furnishings store offers incredible savings on luxury items

Newport Bathroom Centre is renowned throughout South East Wales for offering a wide range of luxury bathroom items at very affordable prices, but what you may not know is that they also supply and fit not only bathrooms, but also kitchens, bedrooms, doors, and tiling and high quality engineered flooring for any other room of the home too.

The best thing about this service is that you get first-hand experience of what your new room will look and feel like, as your dream becomes a reality with a bespoke design and fitting service.

Director Dave Viggers

Director Dave Viggers has more than 30 years' experience in the installation of kitchens and bathrooms, using his extensive knowledge of working at a drawing office to formalise your ideas into real working plans.

Dave has full oversight of the project, fully costing the materials and labour from the outset, giving you piece of mind that everything is taken care of.

Dave told SW Directories: "The design process is simple, it just starts with a conversation to discuss styles and individual tastes. Working with a set budget, we can then look at the best suited materials for the job, then it's on to measure to work out an exact cost.

"You'll sit down with an experienced and talented designer who'll discuss your ideas in detail, noting your likes and dislikes, encompassing tiling, storage, accessories, and fittings.

"Whether modern, classic or specially commissioned, we ensure that your bathroom, kitchen or bedroom will look exactly how you want it while retaining practicality and function.

"When designs have been agreed and confirmed, customers will then receive a supply and fitting quotation based on the products and design chosen. These quotations will include a total cost including the products and the work involved in transforming your bathroom, kitchen or bedroom.

"We usually allow for two weeks as standard, but each installation varies depending on the work involved and will be discussed with you prior to confirmation of your installation date."

So, if you're looking for a high-level of quality service from a professional team who strive to get the very best for you and your budget, then simply pay a visit to Newport Bathroom Centre.

BEACHES IN WALES

Barry Island's beach in Whitmore Bay

Barry Island is a district, peninsula and seaside resort, forming part of the town of Barry in the Vale of Glamorgan. It is named after the 6th century Saint Baruc. Barry's stretch of coast, on the Bristol Channel, has the world's second highest tidal range of 15 metres (49ft)

The peninsula was an island until the 1870s when it was linked to the mainland as the town of Barry expanded. This was partly due to the opening of Barry Docks by the Barry Railway Company.

Butlins Barry Island was a holiday camp that opened 1966 and closed in 1996, by which time it had been known as The Barry Island Resort for about nine years.

Barry is now known more for its Pleasure Park, there's a rollercoaster, log flume, dodgems and a Waltzer. Younger children will find plenty to keep them amused, with trampolines, pedal boats and traditional fairground attractions.

At the front is Whitmore Bay, which has a huge crescent of golden sand, it's ideal for families to have fun in the sun, with its wide, gently shelving sands. The promenade with its columned colonnade is full of amusement arcades, fish and chip shops and busy cafés including Marco's Café, which was used in the TV series 'Gavin & Stacey'.

Swan
RESCUE

Very Occasionally, there is a Funny Side!

This is a little story which ought to have been prepared for the March-April edition of The Directory, but when the time came, we felt there were more pressing issues which needed to be aired.

It was the late afternoon on Wednesday 11th February when, as it does, the phone rang. Remember, it was away back in late September when we had our first call of the autumn requesting help with a stranded cygnet making a mess of attempting to leave the parental territory and now, five months later, the same need continued to exist. This time the swan had landed in, rather than on, the balcony of an east-facing apartment (probably at the first-floor level) in a tower block in Adventurer's Quay in Cardiff. Before setting off, a sixth sense advised I should go armed with a small foldable stepladder, and so I went back into the house to retrieve same. Good job! Without it, I would have been totally stymied! Before proceeding, and in order for what follows to make sense, it is necessary to present a few statistics, firstly in relation to the position and size of the window, and secondly regarding the rescuer! From the floor to the sill, in the bedroom in question, it was 110 cm. (hence the need for the step ladder). The width of the sill 43cm. and the 'working' size of the window through which the rescuer needed to squeeze was 46cm. wide and 102cm. high. The rescuer is 82 years old and weighs 90kg. He is 210cm tall and is 110cm around the chest. Getting out onto the balcony was relatively easy, followed by passing the steps through the window to facilitate the return journey. It was a very large and heavy juvenile swan, and certainly not very pleased to meet me, and then to be man-handled and wrapped securely. The swan was passed back through the open window; again, thank goodness for the steps! On the balcony, the height to the top of the sill was even greater than inside the room! My advice to the homeowner was to take the swan in its Ikea bag out onto the landing; the swan wrap combination is in no sense guaranteed to be swan poo proof…

The final manoeuvre, and by far the most difficult was the return from outdoors to indoors, as it were, 'against the flow' of the open window. In writing this, I'm not sure how easy it has been to follow; a video of it might have been quite entertaining!

As I drove to Channel View to release the swan, it occurred to me it would make a story so later on, I stopped and sent a text message requesting the measurements I have been able to include in the text; they were sent immediately, by return.

Story & photos by Peter. For swan problems please contact Peter on 07802 472788

Gwerinwyr Gwent Showcases Welsh Tradition Across Gwent and Beyond

Whenever possible we do like to show off Welsh dancing at festivals, particularly in England, and this year we were invited by the Upton-on-Severn folk festival. .

The festival is held over the May Day Bank Holiday and is predominantly a show case for the three styles of Morris dance, Cotswold, Border and Northwest. We only danced on the Saturday, and apart from GG, I only spotted one other type of dancing among the more than 30 Morris sides taking part, so we certainly introduced a bit of contrast to the day and received quite a few pleasing comments in return. We had some new members dancing out for their first time and it was quite a relaxed introduction for them. The weather was kind and Upton is a pleasant riverside town with plenty of independent shops and pubs, so all in all a very nice day out.

On the 19th May we spent a very pleasant evening with the ladies of Marshfield WI. They meet in Castleton village hall which has a spacious interior, perfect for dancing. As usual, Barbara Griffiths was our MC and we alternated our display dances with her GG-slanted Welsh culture talk. We then got the ladies to join us in a couple of simple ceilidh dances and finished the evening off with the tea & cake they provided, we always enjoy our trips to the WI.

By the time this edition is published, Gwyl Plant (the children's dance festival) will probably be over for this year. It takes place in three venues - Abergavenny, Cwmbran and Newport over three weekends, where on separate Saturday mornings (Abergavenny and Cwmbran in June and Newport on the 4th July), local primary schoolchildren show off their dancing skills in public. Hopefully out of doors, but with inside provision should the day be wet.

Sadly, schools from the Abertillery area no longer take part. Gwent's Gwyl Plant was started 45 years ago by members of GG, and is an after-school club where teachers, having been taught the dances and provided with the music, then teach the children. For many years there has also been a mini Gwyl Plant on the Saturday of the Tredegar House Folk Festival, but alas, for various reasons there was no folk festival this year.

Gwerinwyr Gwent is always seeking new members, and beginners/experienced dancers or musicians are very welcome. Practice night is Thursday 8-10pm at the Graig Community Hall (opposite the Ruperra PH).

Wildlife on Twmbarlwm

Data gathering on a bio-blitz day with Gwent Wildlife Trust

MYNYDD TWMBARLWM intrigues us all with its historical mystery both factual and mythical. Cymdeithas Twmbarlwm Society has, since its inception, explored these subjects in many of our talks and written articles. But rarely have we visited the question of what actually lives on Twmbarlwm now!

I bet not many of you know that Twmbarlwm and its environs is a SINC (a Site of Importance for Natural Conservation) which is an official designation that helps an area to protect and enhance the landscape and its wild flora and fauna.

I have always loved to walk this mountain of ours and one of my favourite pastimes up on the Twmp is to lie flat on the ground, on a bed of wimberry bushes and heather, searching the sky for the high flying Skylarks who soar to incredible heights whilst continuously chirruping their high pitched songs. Yet when I spot an unusual bird, creature or wildflower I find the SEWBReC (South East Wales Bio-Diversity Records Centre) website a useful resource to help identify them.

I'm no great ornithologist but I can recognise the most common visitors to our mountain – the various Tits, Great, Coal and Blue – birds of prey like the common Buzzard and Red Kite gliding the air currents – Song Thrushes, Ravens, Warblers and, of course, the famous spring time visitor, the Cuckoo. I've seen both the Green and Lesser Spotted Woodpeckers, Jays, Fieldfares and even a couple of Woodcocks.

I tend not to see much wildlife at my feet because my dogs have usually frightened everything away but I have come across frogs, toads, lizards, mice (or are they voles?) and slow worms which I used to spend hours searching for when I was a lad.

I'm told there are grass snakes and some say they've even encountered adders. There are reports of dormice hereabouts, although they were last recorded in 2004, so I sincerely hope they are thriving here still.

As regards larger mammals, strangely enough, I've never personally seen rabbits up there, lower down the hillside maybe, but never up on the ridgeway. There's plenty of evidence of foxes and I've seen their tracks in the snow and the dogs are always keen to roll in you-know-what. There's even been quite a few sightings of deer reported on social media – especially since NRW have cut down much of the forestry.

I've spotted many butterflies like red admirals, peacocks and tortoiseshell but I often have difficulty telling them apart – again, out come the reference books when I get home.

As regards the flora I get totally lost with all those Latin names – if you look at the data-sets compiled by SEWBReC available on their website www.sewbrec.org.uk you will see what I mean.

The SEWBReC documentation tells us this upland area is a mix of acid grassland and heath vegetation with bracken and coniferous planting on the valley sides – we helped compile this information when we first explored the area for conservation grazing.

If you have a strong interest in local flora and fauna I recommend that you visit their website – their scope of activity is too wide for me to explain here, but basically it is their job to compile and make appropriate local biodiversity information available to all those who need it, to ensure that decisions which affect local biodiversity are made using the best available data.

It's been a few years since CTS organised a bio-blitz (a sort of census of the flora and fauna) on the mountain under the guidance of Gwent Wildlife Trust and we would like to prepare another in the near future – so keep an eye on our website and Facebook page to see if we can get one underway – because it will be an informative, exciting event that everyone will be able to get involved with.

Terry Evans, Chairman of Cymdeithas Twmbarlwm Society

Cymdeithas Twmbarlwm Society meet at the car park below Twmbarlwm's summit at 10:30 (What3Words location = ironic.sweetened.people) for a litter pick and volunteer workday on the first Sunday of every month to which everyone is invited, it's not all hard work and it's a great opportunity to find your way around up there. We organise walks and other events throughout the year so watch our website and Facebook page for details.

Afon Mawddach

Afon Mawddach originates from a wide area north of Dduallt in the Eryri National Park (Snowdonia). It is 28 miles (45 km) long and meets the sea next to the town of Barmouth, forming the wide, sandy Mawddach Estuary, which stretches eight miles inland to the town of Dolgellau.

The southern bank of the Mawddach estuary, along which used to run a section of the GWR branch line from Ruabon to Barmouth, has now been designated the Mawddach Trail, an eight mile cycle path running from Dolgellau to Morfa Mawddach, at the south side of the Barmouth railway bridge.

Barmouth Bridge or Viaduct is a Grade II* listed single-track wooden railway viaduct across the estuary of the River Mawddach near Barmouth. It is 900 yards (820m) long and carries the Cambrian Line. It is the longest timber viaduct in Wales and one of the oldest in regular use in Britain. It is also used by cyclists, motorcyclists and pedestrians and is part of the National Cycle Route 8.

We stayed in Barmouth while touring North Wales during the unusually warm days of late September 2019. The boutique hotel we chose was exceptional and provided an excellent base for exploring the area. Both the accommodation and the food were outstanding, making our stay especially memorable.

Hidden Talents on Display at Newport u3a Art Group

Members of Newport u3a's very successful Art Group have rediscovered their hidden talents or found a new one at its sociable sessions where beginners and the more experienced are all welcome. Members can experiment with a range of media while developing their individual styles. They quickly manage to produce some noteworthy samples and are keen to display them.

Recently we held an exhibition of their work to which many of our members from our other groups attended to support the artists. They were impressed with the talent exhibited and the standard of the work.

Newport u3a runs 40 more active, cultural and social groups for the retired at the Dolman Theatre Wednesday to Friday at 09:45-15:00. If you would like a more colourful retirement, come and try us out free of charge for two weeks.

Newport Bathroom Centre

PEACE OF MIND

When getting in and out of a standard bath becomes a worry, these quality products offer a solution.

Happy Customers Malcolm & Carol Warren

The Louisiana Access Walk In Bath

The latest addition to Newport Bathroom Centre's already extensive catalogue of innovative products now includes Access walk-in baths - a British company based in the Black Country, who specialises in making bathing more than a possibility, they make it a pleasure, with elegant designs to suit any bathroom.

Newport Bathroom Centre Director, Dave Viggers, told us: "We understand you want to bathe with confidence, so the experience is relaxing and enjoyable. This is why every bath has been carefully designed to include multiple safety features without compromising looks. Combine this with outstanding design and affordability, you have a walk-in bathing solution that is unbeatable."

Here is what Carol Warren, who purchased a 'Louisiana' style walk-in bath from Newport Bathroom Centre had to say:

What made you decide to get rid of your old bath for a walk-in bath?
As we (my husband and I) got older, mobility became more of an issue, especially after falling and breaking my ankle. Getting in and out of a regular bath became a serious issue, due having to put one's entire weight on my weaker ankle.

How long did it take to fit?
Fitting took just under a week, which also included waiting for the electrician and replacing the floor covering. It would've probably been sooner, as the work was split over a weekend.

Finally, would you recommend an Access Walk-in Bath and why?
David and his team were really good with sound advice and were able to maintain use of the original bathroom, whilst the new one was being fitted.

Everything was left clean and tidy at the end of the working day.

Where suggestions were made in order to get a good looking bathroom there was no pressure to make the changes, but due to the experience of David and his team we ended up with something that was far better than we could have put together.

David also kept in touch throughout the whole experience and followed up with phone calls to make sure that there were no problems and we were satisfied with everything - Newport Bathroom Centre comes highly recommended in our eyes.

If you are interested in this Louisiana bath or any of the nine other options available, please get in touch with one of Newport Bathroom Centre's experts using the details below:
